

Classical picture of charged oscillators with various resonant frequencies (a black surface) producing light waves when excited with thermal energy.

