

Flux is the total amount of electric field through a given area.

